

Meet Chris!

Chris is a 12 year old fanatic for sports. He has a great arm for football and it shows. Chris also loves basketball. He is very athletically talented, but beyond his love for sports, he also enjoys music. His current interest is in playing the piano, and he is a quick learner with an incredible memory, allowing him to pick up on piano sequences rapidly. His foster parents report that he has an amazing memory allowing him to recall things he has read and tell long, detailed stories which younger kids thoroughly enjoy hearing. As with many kids his age, Chris also enjoys movies, television and video games. He would stay on the computer for hours on end if it was allowed. Chris is also a fan of board games, puzzles, and is a talented artist who enjoys drawing.

Chris appears to be quiet and shy upon first meeting him, but those that are close to him say otherwise. He is a very friendly and likeable boy who enjoys relationships and longs to build long-lasting important friendships. He does very well with one-on-one attention and can be quite demanding of ones time. Chris is legally free for adoption and would do best in a home with clear boundaries and firm, fair, consistent treatment. Because of his need for ones undivided attention, a home with no other children, or very few other children would best suit him. He has suffered many past disappointments and has some tough behavioral needs, so Chris needs a family who has experience in caring for such needs. A structured and active family with patience, understanding, and dedication would be an ideal Forever Family for Chris!

For more information on Chris, please contact Danielle Redderson at (602) 253-1620 Ext. 112 or dredderson@arizonaschildren.org

